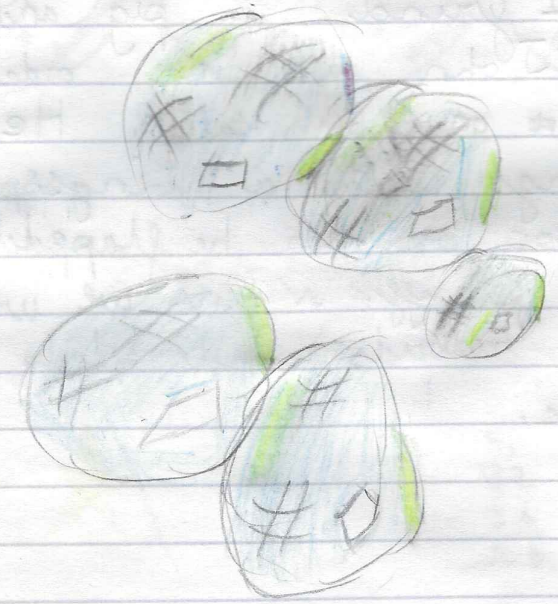
Thursday 26th 202

Bubble ride


One day, I was walking across the park I blew some bubbles, they all started to grow so I jumped on one. It was able to hold my weight then all of a sudden it started to float. I did not know where it was going it just rose and rose until we reached the level of clouds. Now we where going left just then behind me I saw a whole herd of bubbles then I thought my bubble was the leader of the herd. then we started to go down we went down through the fluffy white douds then I jumped of and they all flew away.